Howco Group Statement

The Oil & Gas marketplace is a challenging environment with notoriously difficult cycles to manage. At HOWCO, we are committed to the health & safety of our employees.

During this current crisis we have switched seamlessly to remote working and appropriate safe working practices in all our facilities. Our 14 locations, in 8 countries, on 3 continents, are all currently operating normally, minimizing any supply chain risk and customer service disruption.

We have a proven business model that seamlessly adapts to these challenges. We see uncertain times like these as opportunities to provide unmatched service and support for our business partners while continuing to strengthen our long term industry position.

We are intimately connected to our strategic partners, both customers and suppliers. Safety | Quality | Delivery | Knowledge | Value are the pillars at the core of our business which provide our customers with real Competitive Advantage.

Experience in managing during market uncertainty is invaluable. We understand the critical value of ensuring business continuity to our customer and supplier partners. We have built our market position on strong, well- balanced foundations with a meticulously planned and measured approach.

Through our in depth understanding of your market space and business supply chain requirements, we will continue to consistently deliver lowest total cost of ownership.
